Monday Meeting to Discuss High School Plans

Members of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen will meet with other town officials, at 8 pm Monday, in the Wilmington High School Library, to discuss opinions and ideas about new plans for an addition to Wilmington High School.

The meeting is being held as the result of an invitation from Walter H. Pierce, acting superintendent of the Wilmington Schools. Others invited to attend include the School Committee, the Permanent Building Committee, the Conservation Commission, and the Town Manager and Town Counsel.

The meeting is to be informal, Pierce says. He feels that the general public would probably be interested in the later meetings more than this one, which is to exploratory in nature, but added that no one will be excluded.

Tentatively, the discussion will be on an addition to the High School, rather than the building of a new one on another site.

Pierce believes that more land will have to be purchased, in back of the high school, in order to accomplish this, and is hoping that an agreement can be made for the use of some of the land in back of the First Baptist Church, as common parking ground.

He will be the person to start the meeting, and the discussion, and hopes that out of it the town can eventually get an idea of the size of the project, and its costs.

Series of Meetings

Mr. Pierce describes Monday's meeting as being the first of what he hopes is a series of meetings, leading to the construction of an addition to the school.

He told the Town Crier that he hopes at a later date there can be eight or ten meetings in which the public can be told of the planning for the school addition.

'No longer can the School Departments expect that a Town Meeting will just vote for a school on just bare information' Pierce said. He feels that the public should be well informed on the new plans.

He also told the Town Crier that he is hopeful that the addition to High School 'will not be of such a magnitude as to chase people from the town'.

Post Office Closed Friday

The Wilmington Post Office is to be closed all day Friday, in accordance with a Presidential order, to give all employees of the Post Office Department the day off.

It Wasn't Superman!

Mrs Ernest Durb of Lawrence Court has a tale to tell, - and she has three members of the Wilmington Police Department who observed part of the story - Inspector John Harvey, Patrolman Pat Leonard, and the Chief of Police, Paul J. Lynch.

A hawk - very very large, - or even possibly an eagle, made a breakfast room out of the Durb backyard. He arrived every morning for breakfast, and then left. Breakfast was one of Mrs Durb's prize ducks, or prize hens. The ducks, which she exhibits, are black, with purple heads.

The police heard of the trouble in the Durb backyard, and on Tuesday morning went down for a look. They arrived just exactly as the breakfast bell rung, and a duck was being consumed by the unwelcome visitor.

The visitor took off before the Police could get too close, but the Police swear that it has a wing spread of at least two feet.

It wasn't Superman, they say, but it was either Super Hawk, or an Eagle.

National Auto Dealer Award

Fred Cain is Finalist

Fred F Cain, of Wilmington, Chrysler - Plymouth Dealer, has been notified that he is one of the eleven finalists, for the National 'Quality Dealer of the Year' award sponsored by Time Magazine.

Cain was notified last Saturday by George McClellan, manager of Detroit's Time office. McClellan is the director of the Time program, which is to choose the Outstanding Auto Dealer of the Year for Time magazine.

The presentation is to be in Miami, during the National Auto Dealers Association convention, Jan. 17 to 21.

Forty seven states in the United States made commitments to sponsor dealers for the award.

The judges are to be five University of Michigan professors. The panel was named by Dean Floyd A Bond of the Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

The Time - Magazine Quality Dealer Award is to be presented on Sunday, during the convention in Miami. It will be the first time such an award has been made by Time magazine.

Previously the awards were presented annually at a private, by-invitation only breakfast, at the Sunday morning session of the annual meeting.

This will also be the first year that the eventual nominee will not know, until the award is presented, that he has been named the Dealer of the Year.

The Religious Paintings of Goslar

RELIGIOUS PAINTINGS: Of the Nativity, and other New Testament scenes, were lost to the public for three centuries, in the old City Council Room in the City Hall of Goslar, Germany. Colored pictures showing some of the paintings, are now to be seen in the Town Crier office, during the Christmas season.

The City Councilors sat on the oaken bench, shown here. The walls and ceiling of the old room were covered with vividly painted pictures of the New Testament.

Goslar is a city at the base of the Harz mountains, in northern Germany - the most interesting of all visited by a group of newspaper men this summer, of which the Editor - Publisher of this paper was one.

It was one of the cities of the old Hanseatic League, in medieval Europe. Most of the cities of this league (all of which were independent of king) were seacoast trading cities. Goslar was a mining town with the nearest seaport being

The 'Biggest' Wedding Anniversary?

Ensign Ronald Eaton, USNR, killed in the Korean War, was one of the children of the Eaton family. A park, dedicated to him, is in front of the Eaton Home.

Didn't Get His Man

Officer James Marcy of the Wilmington Police Department didn't get his man, on December 17th, but he tried real hard, and he was right behind when the State Police finally captured the fleeing man, in the woods near the North Reading - Wilmington - Andover line.

A man who gave the name of Robert A. Kalhuaser of Arlington was arrested and charged with the theft of a truckload of snowmobiles after a thrilling chase, in car and on foot, through three towns.

Car 31 of the Wilmington Police, which Marcy was driving, was forced off the road in the process, but was still able to function, as was Marcy.

The Wilmington Police first received notice, at 5:06 pm., that a truck, black, with Vermont plates, was being chased down Route 62 by the North Reading Police. All available Wilmington cars, including the Chief's, were put into action.

Marcy, in Car 31, caught up with the truck on Ballardvale Street, and tried to pass, in order to force the driver to stop. Instead the truck lurched up against Car 31, and the tires scratched up the side of the cruiser, which was forced off the road.

Marcy, after a few moments, got back onto the road.

The truck, meanwhile, according to the police, had gone into Andover and turned around, coming down Andover Street and onto Route 125, where Marcy again took up the chase, still driving Car 31.

This time Marcy was able to force the truck off the road.

The driver abandoned the vehicle, and took to the woods, with Marcy behind him. He was captured by State and North Reading Police.

North Reading Police say that the driver was one of four persons who arrived at the Larkin Lawn Mower shop in North Reading, in a station wagon, having followed the Vermont truck to its destination.

The man who took the truck, they say, got out and jumped into it while it was parked, awaiting unloading.

As it was being driven off, the station wagon followed, and 'ran interference' for the driver of the stolen truck.

It had, at one time, forced the North Reading police cruiser off the road, this before Marcy had found the stolen truck.

The arrested man is described as a man who was free on bail, after having been arraigned on a charge of attempted murder.

Reading Co-Op Bank Assets Increased 109% in Decade

Paul E. Case of Reading has been re-elected President of the Reading Co-operative Bank, and Harold E. Melzar of Wilmington has been re-elected the Vice President, in a recent meeting.

Leslie D. Stark was elected to the newly created office of Executive Vice President; T. Gerald Richards was elected Treasurer, and Philip G. Dalrymple was elected Assistant Treasurer. William G. Day was re-elected Clerk of the Board, and Attorney for the Bank.

At the Annual Meeting of the Corporation, held earlier in December, Stephen A. Abbott, Arnold C. Blake, LeRoy B. Bedell Jr., Robert A. Muir and Benjamin F. Sands were elected Directors.

Mr. Melzar, Mr. Blake, and Mr. Bedell are well-known Wilmington residents, and Mr. Dalrymple is the Managing Officer of the Bank's office in North Wilmington.

Mr. Case reported that the last year has been a year of 'tight money' but that the Bank has continued to be active in its special field of savings and mortgage lending and had shown a yearly growth of assets of over $1,200,000, or nearly 9%. He also commented that the asset growth in the last decade had shown an increase from $6,539,300 to $13,667,200 or nearly 109%.

The Treasurer reported that the Wilmington Branch office is showing steadily increasing activity and that the assets in that office alone total nearly $2,000,000.

JOANNE MARIE DEVEAU IS ENGAGED

Mr and Mrs George Deveau of Edwards Road Wilmington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Marie, to John F. Hauser, son of Mr and Mrs Alfred Hauser, of 17 Sullivan Parkway, Tewksbury.

Miss Deveau is attending Wilmington High School, and will be a 1970 graduate.

Mr. Hauser is employed at Volkswagen Northeastern Distributors in Wilmington.

A June wedding is planned.

Hospital Fund News

THE WINNERS

The Wilmington Regional Hospital Fund Raising Committee is happy to announce that Robin Ahern of Wildwood Street was the winner of the beautiful bride doll, that was dressed and donated by Mrs Winona Balkus, chances for which were drawn at the Wilmington Ctr Pharmacy for the benefit of the Hospital Building Fund.

Her name was drawn by the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, James Banda.

At the same time, Representative Fred F Cain drew the name of the Reverend Edmund Croke of St Thomas Church, as the winner of the beautiful afghan, made and donated by Mrs Marie Doucette. Congratulations and best wishes to you both.

WEST INTERMEDIATE STUDENTS GIVE CHRISTMAS

The students of the 'West' have been busy contributing their spare change and spending money to a fund established in the honor of the late David and Billy Landers who were classmates that lost their lives in the tragic fire on Sept 26, 1969.

This endeavor was instituted by the Student Council and their advisor Mr Joseph Connelly.

Last week, the students presented a check for $445 to Mr A Melville Woodside, the President of the Wilmington Regional Hospital Association for the Landers Burn Center, which is named in honor of the family.

The children thus showed their true spirit of Christmas with Love Hope and Charity.

CLOSING XMAS DAY AT NOON

Selectmen's Meeting

Permits for the Kustom Katering Company were tabled, at the Board of Selectmen's meeting on Monday, until the Board has had a chance to learn what the score is on some questions that they raised. The Kustom Katerers, who have several businesses under one roof, overlooking Route 93, had applied for licenses as a Common Victualer, an Entertainment permit, a Sunday Entertainment permit, and authority to do business on a Sunday.

The basis for the Selectmen's inability to understand what was being requested was the new Casa Di Fior, which Al Fiorenza, the owner, has erected, a 'function' hall, of the type that can be used for wedding receptions, etc.

Mr. Fiorenza already has on the site several companies, including Alco Leasing and the others already named, and has a warehouse of sorts, as an adjunct to the kitchen he operates for Kustom Katering.

The land is zoned for Industry, and the Selectmen seemingly confused the town's zoning laws for Industrial Zones with those for General Business Zones, for they refused to renew the 'second class' license which Alco Leasing has for the purpose of selling the catering trucks which Fiorenza sells, and leases.

The discussion was lengthy. Atty Joseph Courtney, representing Mr. Fiorenza, appeared to be nonplussed at the turn of events, at times.

It appeared that the town, or at least the Board of Selectmen, was not aware of the erection of Casa Di Fior, a name which some of the Selectmen had quite a job to pronounce properly. Courtney was of the belief that the Building Inspector knew, but not expecting the question, was not prepared to answer it. He told the Selectmen that he had discussed the plans with the Building Inspector, Roy McClanahan, who had given him the state regulations for such a building, which are stronger than those of the town. Also, Courtney stated, he had obtained septic permits from Ernest Romano, the Town Sanitarian, and there was an agreement with that gentleman that no food would be prepared in the new building until the sewerage had been connected to the public sewer on Industrial Way, which is a short distance away.

Chairman Banda questioned how all the businesses could be on one lot. Courtney pointed out that in the Wilmington Plaza there are a dozen or so businesses on one lot. He assured Banda that it was correct in zoning, since the zoning was Industrial.

Banda then questioned the parking area, and expressed the unhappiness of the board, which had no plans to examine as it talked. He let it be known that the hall had been functioning without a town permit, and he could not see, it seemed, how the state could supersede the town with regulations and permits.

Courtney reacted to the news that there had been a function in the Casa Di Fior with raised eyebrows. He admitted that this put a different light on some of the aspects, and then forged ahead with his request for knowledge as to what the town wanted from his client.

The Selectmen wanted a plot plan, with parking allocated; plans for the hall, and specifications for the building and septic tanks, all to be submitted this week. McDonald added that the Town Engineer had to approve the parking plan, and Miceli added that, under the statutes no one could approve the parking without plot plan and building plan.

Mrs Drew was also surprised at the turn of events. She insisted that Fiorenza was entitled to a Second Class license, that there had already been a ruling by the state on this, and that Fiorenza would be out of business if he did not get it.

Other board members were insistent that a public hearing before the Board of Appeals was necessary, citing the Wagstaff case, on Main Street. Banda brought this up, and Mr Miceli brought it up twice.

Courtney had no alternative but to agree to a Board of Appeals hearing, although Mrs Drew was still adamant that the Selectmen could grant the license 'because they always had'. The matter was turned over to the Town Counsel for his opinion.

Shell Oil

Courtney was also the attorney for a hearing in which the Shell Oil Company wanted a license for the storage of 2080 gallons of petroleum products above ground at the Shell Station on Lowell and Main Streets.

Appearing for the hearing was Stanley Webber, who represented his wife, Leo Spornza, a real estate man for Shell, and Ford, an architect and engineer for Shell.

The hang-up was over the application for 2080 gallons of petroleum products above ground. Town Manager Sterling Morris was sent out to the files several times to examine the records of other gas stations, including the North Wilmington Shell, which is almost a duplicate gas station.

Spornza explained the purchasing policies of Shell dealers, and that such a license would enable the operator of the Wilmington Shell Station to purchase large quantities of some products, at a discount, sometimes supplies for several months. Still, the board hesitated.

Finally Banda asked if they could 'live with' a license for 1040 gallons, and Spornza said they would be happy. A license for 1040 gallons was voted, at the conclusion of the meeting.

However, in the course of explaining the plans for moving the station itself further back, Mr Ford mentioned that 'the state would be working in the area' - meaning the junction of Routes 129 and 38, and Miceli picked this up. Ford corrected himself to say that 'the state would like to work in the area'.

Miceli asked the time that the construction could be anticipated, if they got approval for the moving of the station, and Ford said it would be three or four months. Boylen added facetiously 'And if you get approval, Shell will withdraw opposition to importing oil?'

With a perfectly straight face Ford allowed that he couldn't go so far as to say that.

Revocation Hearings

The scheduled revocation for a gas license on property of George Stevens was called off long enough for Mr Stevens to renew the license with the Town Clerk.

Mr Stevens, who lives in Tewksbury, appeared with Ray McNamara, the owner of the Tire Shop on the property.

The permit was renewed for the property after it was discovered that the permits were for gas in the tanks of autos in the premises, both at McNamara and at Wilmington Automatic Transmission, next door. Stevens had not renewed, he said, because he had believed the occupants had done so.

MacDonald said that 'the license

So Who is Smiling?

SAINT NICK IS SUPPOSED TO BE A JOLLY FELLOW; But it took Sam Tucker, vice president and general manager of Volkswagen Northeastern, of Fordham Way, to supply the smile in this picture.

The occasion was a Christmas party for employees of the New England VW dealerships, and the children of the employees of VW Northeastern, held last week.

Some of the children appear to be afraid of the cameraman, too.

Nosey Nancy

Send you announcements to Nancy, Box 208, Wilmington or call 657-7141, and after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there, then I'll call you!

An anonymous note arrived to us in the mail this week: 'Nosey Nancy Get well cards for Jack Wandell at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Room 510, White Building. He will be confined there for some time.'

'Also, he received his promotion to Sergeant from the Marine Corps'

Well, this did confuse this Chick since Jack just received the Silver Star and fifteen medals and citations for the Marine Corps last month...So we got on the phone to Danny Wandell of Shawsheen Avenue Jack's brother...and this is what gives:

Jack was doing some landscaping at the Government Ctr for Johnny Bell, and he tripped over a sprinkler, and hurdled 30 ft to the cement from a patio...Well the Marine corps training had stood that lad in good stead...He did a back flip on the way down and saved himself from being killed. He landed on his hands and knees and came out on top. He ONLY got a fractured skull, a mashed side in his face, two broken arms and legs and lost his knee caps... But, says Dan cheerfully, he'll have that licked in no time...He is in wonderful spirits...and this Gal is really grateful to that Man Upstairs for giving Jack his ability to think 'off his feet' Wonderful Jack...That's the way! Get well We're all rooting for you...and Cards to him, Gals...He has certainly done his stint for this country!

Barby Dayton says that the Skate Exchange is going strong and is open every Saturday morning from 9 to 12 at 214 Burlington Avenue Rt 62. Call her at 658-2583. She has two pair of excellent speed skates Men's Black size 7 or 8...Good Christmas gift for a buck and a pair of skates!

Mrs Woolworth of Veranda Avenue called and Mr W had a hard time coming home that last slippery night because he almost hit five kids on bikes with no lights...Please watch that, folks. Get those lads home at dark if their bikes aren't equipped with lights and safety gear, because the going is rough for the drivers with the holiday traffic and the skidding underfoot.

We also heard that there was two near catastrophes for the school buses this week on Andover Street...So do pay attention to the bus. Give those gals the room and watch your stopping when a bus is stopped. Hear we've been negligent on that score...and we know that you want your kids safe besides it being a state law to stop when the bus stops, nevermind what else you have to do!

Will you all watch that stuff for this Chick? Those Gals on those buses are doing yeomen's service. Thought that in the mid of the rain and sleet on Glen Rd this morning...I wouldn't take that job for anything. I can hardly make it on my own, nevermind with forty or fifty kids loaded on the wagon, shouting and hollering Nice going Gals. This Chick thinks that you should have an award for Bravery...and you too Mr Camber!

Nellie had two afghans donated this week by Virginia Salera of Shawsheen Avenue and Grace Case of Carolyn Road. Nice going, Gals and we also had some wonderful news from some of our service organizations this week, will let you in on soon!

Tina Howe (Mrs Louis Howe) of Woburn St called and she has an artificial tree in good shape that she'd like to give someone if you wish. Call Tina at 538 Woburn St before you go that's all...cause with shopping and all, she wants to be sure she is there to receive you. Thanks!

Big Daddy White sent out a Bulletin on FISH this week telling that there were 400 of you enrolled...I can't believe it...You are certainly wonderful. Someone has phoned me who is worried about what he said about the donation of a dollar from each member. He needs $400 for telephone expenses for the year, since the Council of Churches is poor as 'Church Mice' and he was just asking if we would be willing to donate. But, for heaven's sake if you don't have the dollar, feel that you are supposed to resign. This Chick will con it from somebody somewhere in this town. W NEED EACH AND EVERY ONE OF YOU! So, stay with us...You're all doing just great...as the general content of the conversation goes at the Depot...This is the best thing that has happened to Wilmington for fifty years! And we do want to sing the praises to that guy who is responsible - Big Daddy Les White is some lad! Thanks a bunch for being you, Les!

Christine Martin stepped in to say she would like to baby sit for extra spending money. She is 18, and you may contact her by calling 657-7353

Now what you are waiting for: From the boys across the miles 'Dear Nancy. Hoping, wishing with prayer that your Christmas and New Year's Season is very merry and that the season's bliss continued into (and beyond) the New Year. Bill lovanna'

(Thanks, Bill, and may it be so for all of the World!)

C-U SOON - 55 DAYS ON THE ROCK IN LIBYA. 'Dear Nancy Thank you very much for everything you've done for me over here. When I bid Libya farewell in February, we've got a date as I want to Thank You in person. You've put happiness in a lot of GPs hearts. We can never repay you for everything you've done to make us wanted when we're in the dumps. May the coming year bring more happiness to your life than the past. God Bless You Sgt Lowell'

(And Sgt, those are mighty kind words and music to this Gal's ears and we do have that date for February, although I don't know how the weather will suit you after all these months in Libya...Looking for ya!)

'Dear Nancy, I received your card and would like to say thank you very much. Also I would like to thank the women who made the little Christmas Trees.

'I know it's been some time since I have written you. I didn't forget the town people either. I have a part time job that I work after I get off duty every day. It takes up most of my spare time. I will be getting out of the service the 18th of March. I sure will be happy to get home for good this time.

'I have been keeping up with all the issues on the Song My case. I hope and pray that the people of our country will wait to hear the whole story before taking sides. Those men that took part in the fighting in that area did in my book the right thing. Any man who has to fight over there isn't a heller. I heard men in Viet Nam talk of Song My as a Viet Cong Village.

'If I had been there and under that condition, I would have done the same thing. It was around the time two of our home town young men got their lives taken.

'The Viet Cong had a big attack on all military bases and ground troops at that time.

'I fell if any man is put behind bars or in a hard labor camp for this, then the people in our country should speak up and get them out. I just hope the people of the US will remember that our own young men are giving their lives for the U.S. We are not perfect nor is anyone else. So, if it was a mistake then why punish our men who risk their lives every day over there.

'I won't be home this year for the holidays, but at least I am in the World. I don't care what anyone says there isn't any place like it.

'I just hope the men in Viet Nam will make it home too, so they can enjoy the freedom of the world.

'It doesn't seem like Christmas down here in Texas. It's warm and no snow. I just know it will be my last Christmas away from home.

'Oh, I am going to Arizona for five days at the end of this month I will spend it with three sisters and their families. It would be a lot of fun and a chance to be with part of the family over one holiday.

'The football team did real well this year. I am sure that they had had luck on Thanksgiving Day. Maybe next year, they will be the champs.

'I hope that all of you back home will have a happy holiday season.

'See you all in March and until then, keep the good news in the Crier. Yours truly Ronald Park'

(Bout time, Ronnie. Thanks for the note. We are waiting for March, y'know, and have the peanut butter ready back at the Hut! Glad you can be with your sisters and Mom probably has plenty rocking the boat here, but I still can't get over it - how no matter how many there are, you always miss the one that isn't there! Probably some of it comes from that extra sense you develop when they are little, and subconsciously you know that one is missing and which one! People wouldn't believe that, but I'm sure your mom can verify that. It is really creepy when you stop to think of it, sort of like ESP!)

'Hi Nancy, Received your wonderful Christmas Card and also the beautiful Christmas Tree. It was very thoughtful of you and Nellie to do this for us servicemen. I know all the other fellows feel the same way I do.

'I won't be home for Christmas or New Year's so I hope you all back home have a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

'I hope to have an article in your newspaper soon.

'There really isn't much news here in Texas.

'Thanks again for the Christmas Card and your time that you and Nellie put into the Christmas Tree. I know you had something to do with the trees even though you said you didn't...Tom Park..PS I want to thank all of the Wilmington residents for their Christmas Cards. Thank You!

(Really Tom, this Chick didn't have anything to do but gab, as usual, about the trees...She merely mentioned to Nellie along about the first of November, wish I could think of something for a tuck-in for those kids cards this year, and lo and behold, the next

He Played Carom with his Auto

Jim Brady, a 23 year old Woburn youth, is the man who went through a series of rough bumps, in an auto, and walked out of the wreck. He has quite a tale to tell.

Monday, at 2:25 pm he was on Main Street, near the Town Park, going north, when his car spun out of control.

He hit a tree. He bounced from the tree into a Western Union utility pole, and broke that in half.

Then he bounced on, over the railroad embankment, and landed on the railroad tracks, with his auto upside down.

Brady just got out of his car and glanced around. He was hardly injured - just a few cuts.

The Fire Department ambulance took him to the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, where he was released after a check-up.

Ceiling Paintings

IN THE HIDDEN ROOM IN GOSLAR CITY HALL

Hamburg, perhaps 100 miles away. It was a place that always retained its independence, during the many wars that wracked Europe during Medieval times. There was one time that the burgers of the city did expect that it would fall prey to one or another of the armies that were roaming the countryside - and there by hangs a tale - the story of the hidden Meeting Room - or, as it is listed for this issue in Christmas Week of 1969 - the story of the Holy Paintings at Goslar.

Slate Roofs

Carpenters, especially roofers, would find Goslar an interesting place because of the slate roofs, if for no other reason. Somehow those ancient German carpenters were able to make the roofs of the fourteenth and fifteenth century, of slate, without the customary metal gutters. The slates were literally curved around to provide the protection that metal gutters provide today.

To the average person it was perhaps nothing. To an artisan it was a thing to observe, and wonder.

The Hotel

And, to be mentioned in passing, was the hotel, a wonderful building dating from 1494, two years after the voyage of Columbus. It had originally been built as a weaver's hall - a Guild Hall. Today, as good as ever, with wonderful white oaken floors, it serves the traveller with fine meals and lodging, and has outside a number of wooden statues of the early Princes of the region, together with Goslar's own little boy statue - the Ducat Maniken.

The hotel faces the Platz. On one side of the Platz is the City Hall, dating from the 1400s. On another is a Miner's Hall, much more modern, with a wonderful Glockenspiel (chime clock).

Every hour, on the hour, the chimes ring, and everyone in the platz stops, for seven minutes, to watch the parade of the Miners. Most of the tourists are from Scandinavia, and they will be certain to be back, one hour later, to again watch the parade of the medieval miners, and to hear the chimes. It is a unique show.

The City Hall

The Town Hall (Rat Haus) dates from the 1400s.

One side of it is to the Platz. It was on this side where the writer saw the only tin can, roaming free, in all the area he visited in Germany.

The Germans are very very neat. The smallest scrap of paper is ALWAYS put into a trash barrel. Nowhere in Germany may one see such typical sights as beer cans alongside the highway, as is common in this country.

Goslar was the only exception, as far as this writer was able to observe - with One Coca-Cola can, in a niche in the wall of the Rathaus.

That niche was perhaps 15 or 20 feet above the street level, and someone (an American tourist?) had obviously spent a long long time tossing that can up into the air again, and again, until it got into that niche. And there it is - the only exposed trash in Germany!

The main part of the City Hall is on what one would call the Second Story.

There is a hall, with an oaken floor, and white walls, which is in effect the Front Hall. There are a few benches - and two safes.

Yes - two safes - the kind that the Town Treasurer has to keep the town records in.

They date back to medieval times and were used to keep the city gold.

SELECTMEN

goes with the property' after Banda tried to have the license issued in the names of McNamara and Automatic Transmission, and MacDonald made a motion to take no action, which gave Stevens time to renew.

Revoked were several other licenses. One was for George and Lillian Wilson, on Andover Street, and one for the Mastromarino Brothers, off West Street, while a third was for Polcaro's, on Middlesex Avenue, on a site now occupied by the Rice Brothers.

Banda said that only two more licenses remained to be acted on by the board. Miceli made a TOURISTS IN GOSLAR: Watch the Miners Glockenspiel, which is the principal attraction every hour on the hour. In the background is the ancient City Hall, in which the 'hidden room' is located.

Goslar, as has been said, was a mining town. In the Harz mountains were to be found small amounts of tin, antimony, silver, lead, and gold.

The ancient miners dug about 200 pounds of gold a year. There is still some, being extracted every year.

That ancient gold went into the city safes, for safe keeping.

Perhaps there were armed men who kept watch - but there was something else too.

No combination locks. Such had not been invented.

There were, though, iron straps around the safes, and padlocks. Four straps, and four padlocks for each safe.

Obviously each padlock had a key - and that was the combination for the City Safes. Four Burgers, each with a key, would lock up the gold, and then those same four men had to get together and unlock it!

The Hidden Room

A city where 200 pounds of gold was locked into the city safe each year was obviously a place where the roving brigands and armies of medieval times would find some interest - but the good people of Goslar never were bothered in that way, because of their precautions.

The worst time was during the Thirty Years War - called, in Germany, the War of Religion. This was about the time that the Puritans were settling Massachusetts, and Germany was a much devastated country in those thirty years in which many foreign armies marched over the countryside to help the Germans of their own particular brand of Christian faith and to massacre those of a different faith.

The City Council Room of Goslar was at this time a room filled with religious paintings, from the New Testament.

And the good Burgers took note of the fratricidal war, and decided to hide their Council Room. They walled it up, - completely concealed it, to await the cessation of the wars.

Then they forgot all about it.

It wasn't until sometime about 1900, when a Civil Engineer was in the City Hall, that the room was again found. He looked about him, with his 'engineer's eye', and observed that the building didn't 'measure up'.

Something, obviously, was wrong -- and he got out a tape measure and started measuring.

He found a room that had been preserved from the light for about 300 years - completely sealed off.

The walls and the ceilings were covered with religious paintings, with the paint as fresh as the day it had been applied. The paintings were scenes from the New Testament.

Around the room was the old leather covered bench on which the City Council had sat, some four and five hundred years ago.

Off to one side was a smaller room, also with paintings, in which was a small altar. Mass was sung in this room, before the City Council met, obviously.

And it is all marvellously preserved to this day - thanks to the caution of the City Council of over 300 years ago, and the observing eye of a civil engineer.

In Effect - This is the Town Crier's Christmas Message.

Come down and see the colored postcards of those paintings. They are on the wall of the Town Crier office!

A COCA COLA CAN: The only 'trash' that the writer saw in Germany, is in the niche, shown in the walls of the Goslar City Hall.

requesting a hearing on January 12th for a Warrant Article was received. MacDonald said that January 15th would be too late for closing the warrant for the annual Town Meeting, and on motion of Boylen it was voted that the Warrant be closed at 4:30 pm on January 12th.

A letter was received from the Tewksbury Board of Health, complimenting the selectmen for their action of last week on drugs.

A letter was received from the firm of Hemenway & Barnes, saying that they represented John Elia, with reference to the gas license of Mr. Elia. It was sent to the Town Counsel.

There are many gadgets out now to aid people who find sleeping difficult.

One of the simplest is two plugs of cotton that fit into the ears.

For people who are disturbed by light, sleep shades and sleep masks are available.

For people who like to fall asleep listening to soft music, radios with clock mechanisms automatically shut off after a certain length of time.

More recently, massage and heat mattress pads have been developed which can vibrate one into restfulness.

So you see -- there is some gadgetry of sleep for all you insomniacs.

Hoop Team Loses a Thriller

The boys varsity hoop squad lost both of its league encounters last week. Tuesday they were defeated by Andover, 66-41 as the Wild cats suffered a very cold second period scoring only 5 points compared to 17 by the Golden Warriors. Andover led at the half 32-17 and stayed out front in the second half outscoring the Wildcats 34-24. Capt Dan Ballou hit for 19 points while Bill Gustus and Dennis Murphy each scored six for the Wild cats. As a team, the boys hit on only 27% of their field goal attempt.

Friday night at Methuen was another story as the Wildcats were edged by the Rangers, 68-64. The first half was nip-and-tuck with both teams tied after two periods 32-32. The Rangers had the better of it, during the third period to go out front, 49-44 as the teams entered the final stanza. The Wildcats, with Murphy, Gustus, and Ballou leading the way closed the gap and with 48 seconds remaining the Rangers led, 66-64. During the last few seconds the Wildcats were unable to convert two Ranger turnovers into basket and wound up on the short end as the Rangers scored a hoop at the buzzer.

Murphy with 22 points led the way for the disheartened Wildcats while Ballou with 16 and Gustus with 15 helped out in the scoring column. The varsity is not too strong on manpower, but are giving a tremendous effort each time out which should make for a very interesting season for the other clubs in the conference.

In other conference games last week, Billerica won twice defeating Methuen, 80-67 and Tewksbury 84-43, while No Andover romped over Tewksbury, 61-25 and Burlington 57-30. Chelmsford remained unbeaten as they defeated Burlington 60-50 and Andover defeated Dracut, 67-32 as well as the Wildcats.

The Jayvees lost both of its games, 67-20 to Andover and 49-30 to Methuen. The Freshmen team lost its opening game of the season to Andover West Jr High 45-40. Gary Nelson and Bob Gillis were outstanding in defeat

THIS IS HOW TO TWIRL 'EM: Says Capt. Dan Ballou, of the Boys Basketball Team of Wilmington High School, Dan is probably referring to the ball, but he might mean the opposing teams.

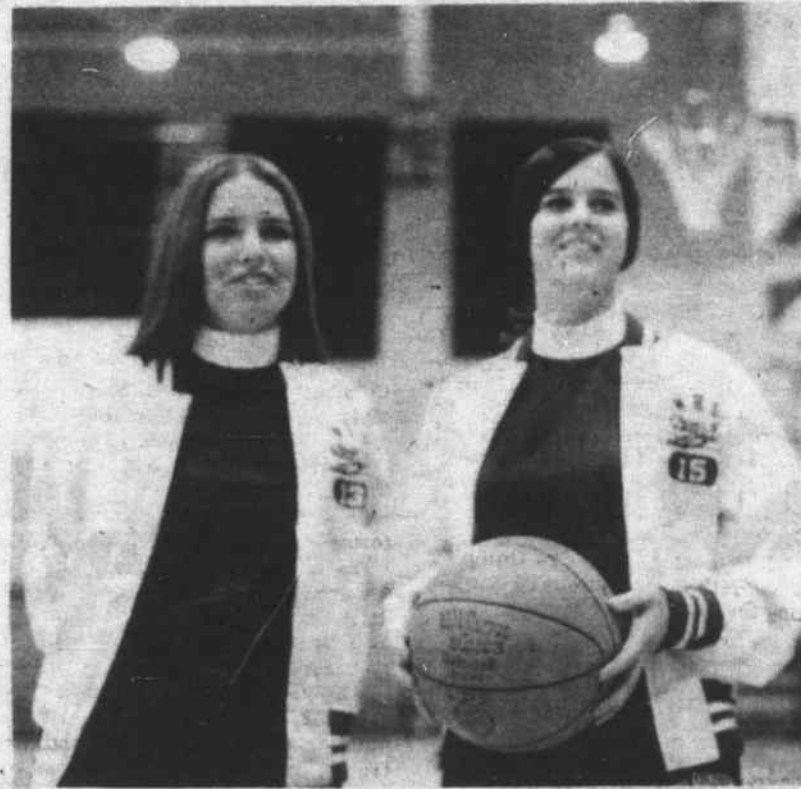

Girl's Basketball

Joan Cushing and
Mary Jane Harrison
Co-Captains

The girls basketball team opened its non-league phase of the schedule last week losing to Methuen 44-36 and dropping Tewksbury at home last Friday 33-22. The Jayvees lost too Methuen 19-15 and edged Tewksbury 19-10.

The league schedule included eight games. Home games with Billerica on Jan 13; Andover, Jan 30; Tewksbury, Feb 6; and Chelmsford on Feb 10 are among these eight. Other non-league games are scheduled with Bedford on Jan 6; Dracut, Feb 3; and at Bedford on Feb 13.

Team members of this seasons varsity squad include Capt Joan Cushing, Co-Capt Mary Jane Harrison, Susan Brown, Pat Griffin, Betty Kroll, Susan Landers, Stephanie Langone, Ann Lombard, Joyce McMillan, Danna Paulsen, Linda Spinney, Lori Suggs, and Peggy Vayo. Coach Dadoly hopes to put it all together this season and hopes are high.

THEY LEAD IN GIRL'S BASKETBALL: Co-Capt. Mary Jane Harrison and Capt. Joan Cushing, of the Wilmington High School's Girls Basketball Team.

Wildcats Win a Pair

The defending champion Wilmington Hockey Team began their MVHL campaign with convincing victories in league action this past week. The Wildcats blanked Tewksbury, 4-0 behind sophomore Ray Bicknell's three goal 'Hat Trick' and the stout goal tending of junior Dana Tighe in Wednesday's league opener.

The Wildcats did not play an exceptionally strong game as the play was ragged at times. This was probably due to the new line setups and the limited number of practices before the initial game. Other games on Wednesday found Andover tying Masconomet in the last minute of play, 2-2, and Chelmsford bombing Billerica, 7-2.

Playing before a highly partisan Wilmington crowd on Saturday at the Forum, the Wildcats moved into undisputed first place with a 7-0 route of Billerica. Sophomore center Pete Tighe led the way with three goals and junior defenseman Mike Esposito chipped in with three assists. Coach Fessenden skated four lines and two sets of defensemen throughout the contest, as the Wildcats completely dominated the game outshooting the Indians, 39-10.

In other games, Masconomet took over second place with an exciting 2-1 triumph over Chelmsford, while Burlington opened its season with a 5-2 Victory over Tewksbury.

On Wednesday night of this week the Wildcats faced a real stiff test as they skated against Andover. Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 the Wildcats will play Chelmsford

Internal Revenue Explains Use Of New Forms

Each taxpayer in Massachusetts who filed the now discontinued card 1040 form last year, has received a postcard explaining the change to the new consolidated 1040 Form, the Internal Revenue Service announced today.

This year all taxpayers will receive a larger, complete tax package that includes the one-page basic 1040 and additional pages or schedules, which may or may not be used according to the taxpayer's needs.

Past 1040-users will find that except for a line lines, the new 1040 asks for the same information as the old card form and that they will probably will not need to fill out more than one sheet of paper to make out their returns, the card says.

In the past, taxpayers who used the 1040A could not take advantage of certain tax credits or exclusions and could not itemize their deductions. A principal reason for making the change to the new form is to enable taxpayers to take full advantage of the tax benefits the law provides, the postcard says.

Most taxpayers should receive their individual tax forms and instructions by mail the first week of January.

Now It Is 'SILC'

Representatives of the eight towns which are combatting the State DPW proposal to turn Route 62 into an 'alternative Route 128' through their towns have adopted the acronym 'SILC' for their name. It was adopted in a meeting held in the Lincoln Town Hall on Dec. 10.

John R. Caswell of Lincoln was elected the chairman, and it was agreed that the meetings are to be rotated among the eight towns involved, with the next meeting to be in Concord, in January.

Representatives of Bedford, Burlington, Concord, Lincoln, Sudbury, Wayland, Weston and Wilmington attended the meeting. Mrs Madelyn McKie of the Wilmington Planning Board represented that board, and Gordon E. Hayward of Thrush Road represented the Wilmington Board of Selectmen. It was Mr Hayward's first bow into the realm of government. Also present was Rep. Fred F. Cain of Wilmington.

The group agreed to operate under the consensus rule, and that members be appointed for one year renewable terms by their respective Boards of Selectmen, with the advice and consent of the local Planning Boards. The committee is to meet at least eight times a year, with the months of December, June, July and August being excluded for meeting dates.

The committee engaged to consider mutual planning problems and engage in general co-ordination of planning in the eight towns.

Principal Speaker

James A. Miller, Director of Community Development for the Metropolitan Area Planning Council (MAPC) told the group that substantial headway had been made in compiling an aggregate of Master Plan proposals from the eight towns, some of which, he said, were a little out of date. It will be necessary, Miller said, to sit down with the various Planning Boards to find out how realistic they are.

Analysis of the projected increases, in population, land use, number of dwelling units, and the transportation needs will have to be reviewed in terms of 'Sub-region concepts' he said.

In his talk Miller told the group that the town boards must face the responsibility of providing more low income housing, and that the time had come to plan rationally for the changes that are going to occur because of the recent changes in legislative laws.

Miller de-emphasized the possible impact of the mid-belt highway, in itself.

We are going to be talking about all transportation, he said. None of us want to see another Route 128. I don't want to see it repeated, but we may be all talking about inter-town connectors, and short sections of parkways.

He said that the MAPC is ready to do what it can to help the sub-region towns. The towns do not need to ask for funds for this, as they now pay a five cents per capita to MAPC, and in addition there are Federal funds available for studies of this sort.

In answer to a statement by the Concord representative, that the time for the study may make it too late, if it is completed 15 or 18 months from now, Miller said that the MAPC would give positive help in preventing the construction of an interchange in that town. The DPW plans were not yet public, he said, and he felt that the towns' 'collective clout' would be more important than the words of the MAPC or other Council officials who would be willing to join with any of the towns in a meeting with the DPW.

Miller warned that he expects the state to take an increasing part in determining land uses in the towns, unless the towns free up their own zoning goals. The Legislature, he said, could make some very basic changes in the zoning picture. He would, he said, send each Subregion member a full draft of his ideas of recommendations for the Subregion.

The Pattern

The pattern of the planning for the mid-belt (old Route 62) highway was quite clear to Miller. He said that it was the Mass DPW, which was seeking to have a relief route for Route 128. The idea, he said, was to provide alternate routing for motorists.

The Future

Chairman Caswell read a letter that had been received by one of the Lincoln Selectmen from the DPW, which stated that the mid-belt planning was a concept for the future. The DPW has stated that it believes the mid-belt route between 128 and 495 necessary 'to relieve the congestion on Route 128'.

The design work for this has already been completed in Wilmington and Burlington, partly as a result of the requests of Rep. Fred Cain during past years, to relieve the pressure within the towns.

Caswell was of the opinion that statements of the DPW that the route would not be put in, for almost a decade, could be discounted. 'I don't believe it' he said. The big question, according to Caswell was, 'How do we get the DPW to level with us?'

Vandalism Rampart

The Wilmington Police Department, during the past ten days, have received well over 100 complaints of thefts of Christmas light bulbs and decorations, such as wreaths.

Over 50 were received in one night - Dec. 16 - 17.

Who is Gordon Hayward?

Gordon E. Hayward, of Thrush Road, is a new face in the Town Government of Wilmington. He is the representative of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen on SILC.

At the time of the formation of this committee, several weeks ago, it was decided to have one Selectman and one member of the Planning Board from each of the eight participating towns.

There was no question as to who the Wilmington Planning Board representative should be - Mrs. Madelyn McKie, not only the chairman of the Planning Board, but also the Wilmington representative on MAPC and a lady who knows her way around the 'planning world'.

But to the Selectmen of Wilmington the note that they should elect a representative for what has since been named SILC was a complete surprise. None of them was anxious to serve on another committee - they already have enough work.

Selectman Jim Miceli, who always has a list of people ready to fill posts - generally a list of Jaycees - immediately nominated Mr. Hayward, who he described as 'an engineer'.

This nomination served to ease the position of the Selectmen, and Hayward was unanimously elected. Hayward in fact is an employee of the Old Colony Trust Company, where he is the assistant mutual fund officer.

But he is a man who is keenly interested in doing his part of the town's work, and he will probably be an excellent representative for Wilmington on SILC.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS

The following new water rate will be effective January 1, 1970.

NEW METER RATES

METERED SERVICE - Subject to a minimum charge of $7.50 per quarter.

First 1,500 cu. ft.	@ .50 per 100 cu. ft.
Next 1,500 cu. ft.	@ .44 per 100 cu. ft.
Next 2,000 cu. ft.	@ .38 per 100 cu. ft.
Next 5,000 cu. ft.	@ .31 per 100 cu. ft.
Next 5,000 cu. ft.	@ .25 per 100 cu. ft.

All in excess of 15,000 cu. ft.
at the rate of .19 per 100 cu. ft.

For the first billing the minimum charge will be pro-rated so that every consumer starts with the new rate on January 1, 1970. A special meter reading of the entire town will be taken in December, and overage will be figured at the old rate up to that reading and at the increase of the rate thereafter.

IMPORTANT! Please be sure your meter is read or a card reading is sent in the latter part of December in order to take advantage of the old rate up through that date.

SEWER RATES will continue to be based on 3/4 of the water bill.

EAMES STREET INDUSTRIAL PARK
Wilmington, Massachusetts
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held at the High School Cafeteria, Wilmington, Massachusetts, at 8:00 P.M. on the 8th day of January, 1970.

The public hearing will be held by the Wilmington Board of Selectmen for the purpose of considering a proposal for the undertaking of an urban renewal project by the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority in the area known as the Eames Street Industrial Park, more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the Wilmington, Woburn Town Line and the northeasterly property line of the Boston Edison Company, the line runs in an easterly direction along the Town line to the westerly property line of the Boston and Maine Railroad; thence the line turns and runs northerly along the westerly property line of the Boston and Maine Railroad to the southerly side of Eames Street; thence the line turns and runs along the southerly side of Eames Street to the northeasterly corner of property of William E. and Margaret E. Britt; thence the line turns southerly in a straight line along the rear property lines of William E. and Margaret E. Britt, Inez Leighton and Salvador Macor, Jeremiah Barucci, and Albert and Blanche Blanchette; thence the line continues in the same southerly direction by a straight line to a point on Cook Avenue; thence the line turns and runs in a straight line in a southwesterly direction along the southeasterly side of Berwick Avenue to the northeasterly side of the Boston Edison Company property; thence the line turns and runs southeasterly along the Boston Edison Company property line to the point of the BEGINNING. Excepting therefrom Parcels No. 54, 56, 94 and 96 as shown on the Wilmington Assessors Map No. 24, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

1. The purpose of the hearing is to consider a proposal for undertaking a blighted open-land project by the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority under Commonwealth and Local Law; to acquire land in the project area; to demolish or remove buildings; and to make the land available for development or redevelopment by private enterprise or public agencies as authorized by law.

2. Any person or organization desiring to be heard will be afforded an opportunity to be heard at such hearing.

Room air conditioners mounted in windows or through the wall need protection against winter.

Room air units are the easiest. Duck or plastic covers available slip over the projected housings of window units; other covers fit the flush mounted vents of through-wall units.

In addition to these covers be sure the fresh air vent in the unit is closed, as an added seal against the weather.

Because the design of some condensers provides no protection against snow entering through the exhaust grill, it's a good idea to cover the grill also.

Finally, seals and packings at valves ought to be checked for deterioration.

It's a good idea to check your entire house to be sure it's protected against the weather - then come to A B SWEZEY, Inc. 615 Main St., 658-2051, for all your supplies. Combination wood and aluminum windows and doors... Sno-Jet Snowmobiles - winter fun for all the family. Merry Christmas from all of us at A B Sweeney. HELPFUL HINT: If your air conditioning system is gas, be sure the pilot light in the condenser is out before winterizing it.

Leo Lambert Awarded Gold Watch by CRBL

Leo Lambert, a 15 year employee of the Charles River Breeding
 Laboratories, Inc. on Ballardvale
 Street, received a gold watch, in a ceremony held on Dec. 16th, from Dr. Henry L. Foster, president of the company. The watch was to commemorate his fifteen years of service, and added Leo to the growing list of employees who have received similar awards.

One of 18 children, he still lives in Lowell, where he was born. He will observe 42 years of married life next February, and his three married daughters have presented him with ten grandchildren. Leo spent 13 of his fifteen years with CRBL in the first company building, and has seen the plant grow to a total of nine buildings.

Charles River is the world's largest breeder of laboratory rats and mice for medical research.
 In addition to the facilities in Wilmington it has a plant in Elbeuf,
 France, and in Newfield, N.J.

LEO LAMBERT: Of Lowell receives a gold watch from Dr. Henry L. Foster of the Charles River Breeding Laboratories.
